

Coroner Investigates Main Death

Little Learned of the Affair but Hat and Articles Picked up on Road to Hallville—Satisfied it was Accidental

On Thursday morning about 4 o'clock the remains of John Main were brought to this city by relatives and taken in charge by Church & Allen, who prepared the body for burial.

Coroner Franklin H. Brown is making an investigation into the circumstances surrounding Mr. Main's death Wednesday night, but has not completed it as yet. From what he has been able to learn it is believed that Mr. Main had been to this city and was driving home, when he met his death. Relative of the deceased were at the office of Coroner Brown on Thursday morning, but were unable to give any information in the matter. Mr. Main was at his home at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. At that time he was working on his farm. His hat and other articles were found along the roadside on the road to Hallville, and at the point where they were found it is probable that the fatality occurred. The coroner has not learned whether he was in the city or where he had been here. If he was here, Wednesday afternoon, but will endeavor to learn more about the case. Whether he was alone or not is not known, but it is believed that he was at the time of the accident. The coroner is of the opinion from what he has learned of the case that it was an accident.

John Main was born in Ledyard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Main, and had always been a farmer. He was 41 years and 9 months old and lived on a farm on Rose Hill, Ledyard, near his father. He was widely known in his native town and in this city and Preston. His wife died a number of years ago, leaving him with two children. Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Calvin Main, and two sisters, Mrs. A. E. Kimbrough of Preston and Mrs. Sadie Richardson of Preston.

CHANGES PERMIT SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS

Near State Camp, Which Commanding Officer Had Previously Had Power to Forbid.

Copies of the changes in the militia law of the state made by the last general assembly have been printed and sent out by order of the adjutant general. While the changes are numerous they are mostly unimportant and were made simply for the purpose of making the militia laws of the state conform to the federal statutes. In all cases the word "governor" is substituted for the words "commander in chief," and as each change is made the subject of a separate section, the new act is somewhat bulky. The change of the most important to the lay mind appears in section 32 of the new act, which reads as follows:

Sec. 32. Section 3029 of the general statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: The commanding officer of any encampment or parade may cause those under his command to perform any field or camp duty he shall require, and may put under arrest during such encampment or parade any member of his command who shall disobey a superior officer, or be guilty of disorderly or unmilitary conduct, and any other person who shall trespass on the parade or encampment ground, or in any way interrupt or molest the orderly discharge of duty by the members of his command.

The amended section ends at this point, while the original section, 3029, went on with this important clause, which has been cut off: "And he may prohibit the sale of all spirituous and malt liquors within one mile of said parade or encampment." It is said that this power was generally exercised by the commanding officer in charge of the state encampments at Niantic. In any event, it has disappeared now. The act of 1909 was probably not read in its entirety by many members of the last general assembly, and in the house at any rate, it received but little attention, where Representative Rogers of Danbury, chairman of the committee on military simply in the line of making the militia laws of the state conform to the federal acts.

Other changes alter the old laws so that the president may call the national guard into the service at the nation for a period of nine months; one strikes out the provision that, in case of drafts, the selectmen may give oral notice to persons subject to military duty and provide in lieu of that notice shall be published in some newspaper in the county. One gives the enrolling officer of the towns from November 1 to February 7, in which to make up the list of those liable for the military tax instead of limiting the time to one month. It provides further that copies of the enrollment lists shall be sent to the tax commissioner and gives him power to apply to the courts for a new enrollment if he has reason to believe the one returned is defective. It provides a fine of $20 for any person who shall give false information respecting any reason for exemption from the commutation tax.

Owing to salary increases the allowance for clerical assistance for the adjutant and assistant quartermaster general's office is increased from $4,500 annually to such sums as shall be biennially appropriated. The old law provided that no person shall be dishonorably discharged except upon the sentence of a court-martial, and the new one takes out the words "court-martial" and substitutes "summary court or general court-martial." The words "organizes militia" are substituted for the words "active militia" wherever the latter occur in the old law. There are many minor changes, the most important ones being those given above.

NOW ON STRIKE

Millions of Stomachs Refuse to do Their Work Properly

All over this broad land millions of stomach owners are being held in humiliating subjection just because they are so stubborn that they will not accept a fair, square and broad minded offer.

Life is short for all of us; it will be shorter for those who let their stomachs go from bad to worse.

The Lee & Osgood Co. has a famous prescription called Mi-o-na and they believe so thoroughly in its remarkable curative power that they say to every owner of a distressed stomach that they will guarantee Mi-o-na tablets to cure acute or chronic indigestion and all stomach ailments or money back, and the price is only 50 cents a box.

And still there are stubborn people right in Norwich who won't accept this offer but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching of sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches, just because—just because—that's all, there is no other reason.

Mi-o-na tablets stop dyspeptic agony in five minutes; they cure obstinate cases of indigestion and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks—or money back.

DAY OF ATONEMENT

Begins With Sunset Tonight and Continues One Day.

With sunset tonight begins Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, lasting until sunset Saturday, and the most important day of the Jewish year. For the whole of the 24 hours the faithful do no work and abstain from food and drink, spending all the time, except that portion necessary for sleep, in the synagogue. This is in following out the old-time rabbinical injunction that fasting alone is of little efficacy unless backed up by sincere penitence and good deeds, while sins against others must first be atoned for by confession to the one who has been wronged and reparation made before the fasting can be of avail. Minors and invalids are exempted by the rabbinical law from the strict abstinence enforced upon the faithful and at the close of the day's service the declaration of God's unity, the words which are repeated at the death-bed, invest the conclusion with awe-inspired solemnity.

According to the Talmud, upon that day the people are inscribed upon either the book of the good or that of the wicked, which, with that of the intermediate, are opened upon New Year's day. If those who names appear upon the intermediate book do not become converts to righteousness during the period of repentance they are enrolled among the names of the wicked.
